Our Lady Peace – ‘Burn Burn’

‘Burn Burn’ is the upcoming seventh studio album by Canadian alternative rock band Our Lady Peace. It is set to be released on July 21, 2009 by Sony Music Entertainment in Canada, and through Warner Music Group in the United States. The title is based on a quote by Jack Kerouac from his 1957 novel On the Road. The album is Our Lady Peace’s first not to have involved collaboration with an outside producer, and the first to be produced solely by vocalist Raine Maida. The album’s release will mark the longest gap between Our Lady Peace studio albums to date, with their previous album, ‘Healthy in Paranoid Times’, having been released in August 2005. It will also be their shortest album to date.

Sugar Ray – ‘Music For Cougars’

In January 2006, Sugar Ray was released from their recording contract with Atlantic Records. The band has been touring Asia, most recently in Singapore in August 2007 where they headlined SingFest, the nation’s first international music festival. In May 2008, Sugar Ray hinted in a Myspace blog that they were going to make an announcement that would “make all fans very, very happy”. The announcement came on May 19, 2008, that the band would be entering the studio to record their first album of new material since 2003. It was also announced that the band signed a new record deal with Pulse Recordings and that the new album should be released in the summer of 2009. On March 6, 2009, Mark McGrath posted an update on Facebook announcing that a new album, titled 'Music for Cougars', will be released on July 21. The first single is "Boardwalk".
